"BILL OF PARTICULARS" DEMANDED OF HUGHES

Democratic Campaign Managers Challenge
Republican Nominee to Tell Views.

Forced on the Defensive

Aspirant Held to Have Voiced Only Destructive
Criticism of Administration.

Washington, D. C., July 9.—The Democratic campaign managers took the offensive to-night with the issuance of a demand upon Mr. Hughes for a statement of the policies he would have followed in the times of international crisis, when Woodrow Wilson was called upon to pilot the ship of state.

Thus far Mr. Hughes has limited himself to the easy task of destructive criticism; he has charged with a glibness that betokened lack of responsibility that Mr. Wilson has been ingloriously deficient in his conduct of international relations of the United States Government, but he has failed to affirm a single act with which he would have displaced the acts by which the President succeeded in preserving the peace and maintaining the honor of the nation.

If Mr. Hughes makes no answer to this challenge for "a bill of particulars" from the Democratic Committee, the President's friends believe he will be hopelessly on the defensive.

Challenge to Hughes

Here is the committee's challenge:
Where does Charles Evans Hughes, Republican candidate for President, stand on the issues of the day?

A bill of particulars will be welcomed by the electorate.

So far the Republican candidate, who in his acceptance telegram said he did not want the nomination, despite the fact that he was the only member of the Supreme Court Bench who hurried through all his cases in order to be ready to make the jump at a moment's notice, has contented himself with general criticisms.

In order that the Republican candidate may not be without a text for his more formal and leisurely acceptance address, it is suggested that he might answer the following questions:

Do you think that the President went too far or not far enough in the submarine controversy with Germany?

If you had been President, would you have used statesmanship and the usual diplomatic channels to preserve peace, or would you have gone to war with Germany?

Would you have gone to war with Mexico? If you had been President would you have declared war? Would you declare war now? Would you have called out the National Guard?

Do you feel that any hyphenated conspiracy worked to bring about the defeat of Roosevelt in the Republican convention and to bring about your own nomination? If a hyphenated conspiracy did bring about Roosevelt's defeat, how do you feel about the exercise and extent of such influence in national politics?

Would you repeal the Federal Trade Commission act, the Federal Reserve system, and the rural credits and good roads bill?

Are you for or against the Tariff Commission bill which the United States Chamber of Commerce, representing the business men of the nation, has endorsed? Would you ignore the findings of this tariff commission and repeal the act creating it?

Overlooked by the G. O. P.

Why did not the Republican party reform the currency and give the nation a sound banking system when it was in power?

Why did not the Republican party establish a rural credit system for the benefit of the farmers?

Has prosperity broken all records, or hasn't it? Is the foreign trade greater than ever before, or isn't it? Will peace munitions for the reconstruction process in Europe replace war munitions, or won't they?

What was the condition of the army and navy when Roosevelt left the White House after seven years of service?

What was the condition of the army and navy when Taft left the White House after four years of service?

How many ships were in the navy or building at the end of the Roosevelt Administration, and at the end of the Taft Administration?

How many men were in the army? What kind of a reserve was there? How many guns and how much powder were in reserve? How much industrial preparation was at hand? Were wages higher or lower than now? Was labor as well satisfied?

What do you think of the naval consulting board and the industrial mobilization committee under Mr. Howard Coffin?

What do think of the manner in which the administration carried the country through the financial crisis that followed the outbreak of the European War?

Publics Were Sharpened

The American public is in a more discriminating frame of mind than ever before. Its wits are sharper. Generalities won't be accepted from the opponents of the Administration against the concrete accomplishments of President Wilson and the Democratic party.

A bill of particulars will be demanded.

There being no real issue between the candidates, then comes the question as to whether in the stress of these days that try men's souls, it will be wise to vote for Justice Hughes as a compliment to his intellectual power and the negative issues which his candidacy now embodies.

Let those who desire to pay this compliment reckon its cost and results as affecting the standing and prestige of our own President, who has borne the heat and burden of the day in carrying our nation through the great crisis of the past years. The effect of that compliment may be heard around the world, and especially in those capitals in Europe where the slogan, "Anything to Beat Wilson," is as popular as at the headquarters of the Republican National Committee.

Primary Campaign Contributions and Disbursements of Republicans For Last May

HARRY C. JAMES, DISTRIBUTOR

Mainly Committeemen Got the Funds. Some Got Over Fifty Dollars and Swore They Received and Spent Less Than That.

In the primary squabble for places on the Republican ticket last May $1,200 changed hands through H. C. James, as Treasurer of the John M. Rose Campaign Committee and the National Delegate Campaign Committee. John M. Rose contributed $700.00 and W. P. Reese contributed $500.00.

It appears that the funds were to nominate Rose for Congress, and the Penrose delegates for National Delegates and incidentally James for the Republican Chairman and Smith for the legislature. Smith spent $200 besides this stupendous amount in order to secure the nomination. It looks like a complete shut-out for all except Penrose candidates and a frost for Blackburn, Pote and Gump by the organization as well as Kurtz for Congress and Reynolds for leader in the County.

Reynolds put George Mullen, of Hyndman up for Chairman to succeed James but the vote shows that those who received the checks in the campaign voted for James while the ones who did not get any "pie" at the Penrose counter, voted for Mullen. Mullen made a formidable candidate at any rate and came within a narrow margin of being elected.

Two of the committeemen, R. F. Dicken of West Providence township, who got $51.50 and D. E. Smith, of East Providence, who got $75.00 swore that their expense account receipts and expenditures were less than $50.00. We wonder how they interpret the $51.50 and $75.00. Do they consider them as personal gifts. The campaign account of James says they got the money for "Transportation of Votes", "Dissemination of Information" and "Messenger Service." They should have stated in their accounts that they received the $51.50 and $75.00 and if any of it was spent the statement should show to whom given and if over $10.00 were given to any one man, a receipt from him should be filed.

The following statement is required of a candidate who receives and disburses money in a campaign with oath as to its correctness attached:

I, candidate for election to the office of Republican County Committee representing the Republican party, do hereby certify, in compliance with the provisions of the act, entitled "An act to regulate nominations and election expenses, and to require accounts of nomination and election expenses, to be filed, etc. Approved March 5, 1916, that my aggregate receipts or disbursements, in connection with the election held May 16, 1916, did not exceed Fifty Dollars.

(Signature of Candidate)

The following are the names of the receivers of campaign contributions in the primary fight together with the ones who voted for James and the ones who voted for Mullen, the first ones being committeemen and the balance volunteers:

Committeemen

William Brice, Jr., Bedford, got $40 and voted for James.
David V. Diehl, Bedford, got $5, voted for James.

Joseph Penrose, East St. Clair, got $30, chaperoned committeemen who voted for James.

Jacob Emiegh, Kimmel township, got $18, came too late to vote for James.

With the above vote Mr. James was of course a sure winner. George S. Mullen did not spend anything and he got very little for it. The following is the record in that particular:

John McIntyre, Coal Dale, got nothing, voted for Mullen.

W. G. Bortz, Cumberland Valley, got nothing, voted for Mullen.

John Nycum

John Nycum of Monroe township, died Wednesday, death being due to chronic indigestion. He had been ailing for several months but became serious within the last three weeks. He leaves a wife and several children. He was a member of the Methodist Church, took a great interest in its meetings, being for many years leader of its choir and director of music in the community. He was for several terms one of Monroe township's school directors and township auditor a couple of terms. Mr. Nycum was a very public spirited man.

GERMAN SUBMARINE POPS UP AT BALTIMORE

4000 Mile Voyage; 1800 Under the Sea.
Carries Most Friendly Message of the Kaiser to Wilson.

Eluding the North Sea Fleet of Great Britain and escaping from a thirty-hour chase by British and French warships off the Virginia coast, the Deutschland, a powerful super-submarine from Germany, passed through the Virginia Capes at 1.45 o'clock on Sunday morning, and, flying the German merchant flag, headed up Chesapeake Bay for Baltimore. She arrived off Quarantine there at 11 o'clock Sunday night, but did not dock until Monday morning.

There were no torpedo tubes on the Deutschland. She carried two 3-inch guns for defensive purposes only.

"We bring a message from the Emperor of Germany to the President of the United States. It is one of friendship and good will," was one of the first statements made by Capt. Kairig of the Deutschland at the end of a 4,000-mile voyage, in which his craft spent 1,800 miles under water.

Unaccompanied and unannounced, this mammoth under-sea craft came up to the capes and blew several blasts from an air whistle, denoting that she wanted to comply with American marine laws and take on a native pilot for passage up the bay.

On board the Virginia pilot boat Relief Capt. Fred Cocke was on watch and when the strange craft with no signs of steam on board, came up to the capes, he was taken by surprise. However, he went out to sea, and when near enough he shouted through a megaphone:

"What craft is that?"

"This is the German under-sea liner Deutschland," a voice from the submarine answered.

"The devil it is!" muttered Capt. Cocke, and then shouted again through the megaphone: "I will be aboard of you in a minute."

TUG HAD BEEN WAITING FOR ELEVEN DAYS

Jumping into a yawl, Capt. Cocke was rowed to the strange visitor and piloted her through the Virginia Capes. Then the submarine lay to between Old Point Comfort and Cape Henry until the tug Thomas F. Timmins, which had stood watch at Cape Henry for eleven days came up.

The tug ran up signals that she had orders for the submarine, and both crafts came alongside each other.

Capt. Hans F. Hirsch one of the crack Captains of the North German Lloyd Line, who had been on board the Timmins ever since the tug took up her vigil at Cape Henry went aboard the Deutschland. He carried several envelopes and these were handed to Capt. Kairig, Commander of the submarine.

Then the two Germans embraced each other on the deck of the submarine, while the American pilot grasped the wheel of the under-water craft waiting for the word to proceed.

Capt. Hirsch and Kairig held a conference for about three hours and the former sent a long telegram ashore addressed to the German Ambassador, telling of the arrival of the Deutschland and what she had on board.

After their conference, Capt. Hirsch and Kairig came out on deck and made their way to the pilot house. Capt. Hirsch appeared to be in command. He told Capt. Cocke that the submarine was going to Baltimore.

"Then you want a Maryland pilot, and not me," said Capt. Cocke.

"SOMETHING THAT WILL STARTLE THE WORLD"

The Virginia pilot steered the submarine to within calling distance of a Maryland pilot boat and summoned another skipper.

It was a few minutes before 5 o'clock when the Deutschland, flying the merchant marine flag of Germany, started slowly up Chesapeake Bay, the tug Timmins preceding her by only a few feet.

Capt. Hirsch praised the daring of Capt. Kairig in the presence of all on board the submarine. He said:

"You have accomplished a wonderful, a remarkable feat in bringing this boat over the sea on under it for 4,000 miles. You have done something that will startle the world. There will be others to come, some bigger and perhaps better than this craft, but you were the first, and to you will go the honor and credit of accomplishing something that was never attempted before."

In a statement afterwards, Capt. Hirsch said:

"Other submarines will be coming from Germany before long, and they will sail from various ports as frequently perhaps as some of the passenger liners now sailing out of America for Europe."

"Wonderful, wonderful that such a craft as this could come so far and encounter so many dangers and yet arrive safely."

"We knew the submarine was coming weeks ago. For nearly twelve days we have stood watch at the Virginia Capes, getting word now and then that she was in such and such position. We were not working in the dark. We did not fear at any time that the Deutschland had been lost. On the contrary, we knew she was aloft and moving toward us, but we did not know exactly what dangers she was encountering."

WILSON'S ACHIEVEMENTS EPOCH MAKING, JAMES SAYS

Senator Declares President Ranks as "Master Diplomat"

DEMOCRATS IN THREE YEARS HAVE ENACTED MORE REMEDIAL LAWS THAN NATION HAS EVER HAD WRITTEN UPON STATUTE BOOKS SINCE ITS BIRTH, PERMANENT CHAIRMAN TELLS CONVENTION.

Mr. Chairman, Fellow Democrats, Ladies and Gentlemen: I greet my Democratic brethren of the Republic the representatives of a proud, victorious, and unconquerable Democracy—a Democracy whose life, achievements, and history challenges the admiration of the world. We cheerfully meet face to face the public we have not betrayed to point with delight to a matchless record of promises we have kept.

During three years of its national control Democracy has enacted into law more progressive remedial legislation than the nation has ever had written upon its statute books since its birth. In former national contests in the last two decades our party came as a prophet. We could only point out wrongs and promise remedies; but to-day we come with deeds, not words; with performance, not promise. Our deeds in the nation have been greater than our words upon the hustings; our performance as the lawmaker greater than our promise as the campaigner.

In other words the Democratic party has kept its word with the American people. We have made good. We have by our conduct of the affairs of this nation deserved the renewed confidence of its people by proving worthy of the confidence once bestowed.

The Democratic party rejoices that under this administration for the first time since the Civil War it was enabled to amend the Constitution of the United States in the interest of good government, and the masses of the people. We freed the Senate from the control of the great interests by making it elective by the people at the polls. We wrote into the Constitution itself an amendment, susceptible of no dispute, that wealth should bear its proper burden of the taxation necessary to run the Government efficiently, economically and honestly.

Powerful Lobby Ousted
President Wilson drove invisible Government out of Washington and uncovered the mightiest lobby that ever ramified a Republic or had its rendezvous in its capital. He drove the lobbyist out; he turned the American people in.

The Democratic party undertook to enact a new tariff law in keeping with the historic principles of the Democratic party and justice to all the people. The Democratic party believes that the right of taxation can only exist for the purposes of raising sufficient revenue to run the Government. Taxation never did justly exist and never will in a free government for the purpose of enriching one class at the expense of all the rest of the people.

We undertook the reformation of the tariff with open minds and clean hands, unswayed, unpledged to any interest except that of the public welfare and we are proud of our achievement in writing into law the present Underwood-Simmons tariff bill. Not a schedule in it fosters a monopoly, not a rate in it protects a trust. We made as nearly free of taxation as possible the necessities of life, and sought to obtain as much revenue as they would bear from the luxuries of life.

One of the greatest features of this law is the income tax, which raises from the fortunes of the rich, the prosperous, the well-to-do people of the nation $120,000,000 per annum, and lifts this burden off the tables and backs of the poor. To my mind, no law is more just than that of an income tax. Those that prosper under the Government ought to be willing to pay taxes to perpetuate it. It is a tax that forecloses no mortgages, forces no sales. It is collected only where riches abound and prosperity smiles.

Would the Republican party dare to suggest the repeal of this part of the tariff law? Will they be specific in their objections to this legislation? What schedule would they repeal? What rate would they increase? Would they substitute the Dingley rate or the Payne-Aldrich rate? If they were given control again, would they re-enact the tariff law that the Democratic party repealed, a bill that was repudiated by the Republican party itself at the polls?

Tariff Board to Be Created

Who is it, anyhow, that desires really the repeal of the present law, made by honest men for an honest purpose, that of raising revenue sufficient to defray the expenses of the Government, and substitute in its stead the lobby-made, monopoly-breeding, trust-creating, millionaire producing Payne-Aldrich bill? Our Republican friends told us when we enacted this bill into law that it would close the factories, fill the streets with idle men, produce a panic, create soup-houses, and distress would reign everywhere; but we rejoice to-day to point to an unexampled prosperity in the nation, with labor more generally employed, at higher rates, shorter hours and better conditions than ever before.

Our Republican friends tell us that after the war is over, poor, stricken, prostrate, torn, bleeding Europe will take our home market here from us; that this young, virile Republic, with 100,000,000 freemen, that has gone out to take the foreign markets of the world, must tremble in great fear lest these war-torn countries, with millions of their men—the flower and strength of their manhood—buried in the trenches, with their factories destroyed, their country laid waste, their charred and blood-soaked land filled with widows and orphans and crippled men, and upon them the heaviest debt of all ages, will come here to this happy land, uncursed by war's ravages or its burden of debt, and take our home market from us. No, gentlemen; I have no such fear; America is going to make the markets of the world; we are going to meet our competitors in the other markets of the earth and take them, and this great people here fears no competitor at home that we are willing to meet away from home.

With the freight rate and cost of transportation in our favor here, we certainly have nothing to fear when we are meeting them where the freight rate and transportation and many times adverse tariffs are in their favor. But we shall cut from them the last hope of having even a false issue, for we shall pass a bill creating a tariff board to gather the facts created by the new war conditions or the conditions that may exist after peace is declared, and upon these official acts, obtained by men not interested in enriching themselves by taxing others, and with this gathered information be ready to meet every new condition which may arise.

Declares Federal Reserve Law Makes Panics Impossible and Has Saved Country in Big Crisis

Would our Republican opponents repeal the present Federal reserve law that emancipated the credit of a nation, that made the credit of the country to run in life-giving currents through the avenues of business? Under the old system a few men could create a panic, as the whole nation witnessed in 1907, when all the world was at peace and enjoying unusual prosperity. A small group of men upon Manhattan Island precipitated overnight one of the greatest panics in the history of the nation. It toppled values, wrecked fortunes, destroyed holdings turned out of employment thousands of men, and locked the doors of almost every bank in the country against the depositor, who called for his own money.

The Republican party—in control for 40 years of our national life—either did not have the ability or the courage or the desire to remedy this brutal system that lodged the money of a nation in the control of this heartless group of men. The Democratic party took control of this nation, and under the leadership of Woodrow Wilson met this great problem. We took the money control out of the hands of this oligarchy; we lodged its control in the hands of the Government and created the Federal Reserve banks of the country. We rested the finances of the great people of this nation upon what they own, and not upon what they owe. The output of the factory, the product of the farm, the ore of the mine, the business achievements of the people, was the basis of the money issued under this new system, and not the bonds that were resting upon the people.

What would have been the result if the old Republican system had been in effect when the world's war broke upon us? The stock exchanges in every city in the world were closed. Europe poured its vast holdings in plethargic streams upon our shores. The cry that went up from all the nations of the Old World was, "We want gold." Who thinks that the Republican system of finance under the guidance of these patriotic guardians would have been able to withstand this mighty cataclysm in the peace and credit of the world? But what was the result? Not a bank closed its doors; not a laborer was thrown out of employment; not a business was forced into bankruptcy, but there stood strong, serving the masses of mankind, this great legislative achievement of the Democratic party.

Panics No Longer Possible
Panics no longer are possible. The truth of it is, they have only come, during the history of this nation, when the Republican party either was in control of its affairs or the laws that it had enacted were unrepealed upon our statute books.

The panic of 1873 is familiar to the older of our citizens. The Republican party was in control. The panic of 1893 came while the laws written by the Republican party were unrepealed upon the statute books, and the plates for the issuance of bonds had been prepared by the outgoing Harrison administration. And so we are quite familiar with the panic of 1907; but as the master achievement of Woodrow Wilson, to my mind, next to keeping 100,000,000 people at peace with the world, the historian will record the Federal reserve law that created a democracy of credit in a Republic of freemen and established a currency system controlled by the Government that is quickly responsive to the business needs of the country.

Would our Republican friends suggest a repeal of this law? I imagine not, though we enacted it over their intense and bitter opposition. They stood upon the floor of the Senate and, with all the eloquence and logic at their command, declared in solemn tones that if we did enact it into law that in 30 days the mightiest panic that ever broke upon a nation would be with us. They said it was but a recrudescence of greenbackism and the old free-silver craze. They declared that the national banks, 8,000 strong, would not go into it.

We discarded this advice. We weathered these evil forebodings, and in the interest of mankind we wrote the law. No Republican convention from that day to this, no Republican orator upon the hustings with any degree of responsibility has suggested a word of criticism or uttered a line of condemnation of this law.

Demands Loyalty to Flag
We are all Americans no matter whence we come. We love our country because it makes us free. The beauty of the oceans that wash our shores, our fertile plains, our lofty mountains, our winding rivers, our unequalled landscapes, can only be enjoyed in their real and matchless beauty through the eyes of a freeman. More beautiful than the beauty and splendor of the land is the glory of the Government.

The humblest may become the greatest, the weakest may become the strongest, the poorest may become the richest; here no taint of blood, no law of royalty. This freedom is as much the right of the one who comes here as the one who is born here. We are glad of it and happy to offer this opportunity and this happiness to all.

We only ask in return loyalty, valor and love; loyalty to the flag, valor in its defense, and love of our free institutions. We do not care what songs of the old home land you may sing or what memories of the country from which you came you may cherish. All we ask is that the song you shall hold dearest to your heart is the Star-Spangled Banner. And the memories you shall cherish most and best are those of America that makes you free.

There are some who seek to destroy this nation whose freedom and blessings they enjoy. The call themselves anarchists. If I had my way, I would not allow a single man or association of men to bear aloft upon the streets and highways of this nation a flag or emblem that either questioned the integrity or authority of the Stars and Stripes of the Republic.

Says Democratic Party Stands for Navy So Strong No Hostile Shell Can Fall in Any American City

In 1906 I attended the great peace conference held in London and saw there assembled 26 nations of the earth speaking in different languages, but all spoke the language of peace. I thought that the millennium of peace had come, such a thing as the world's war was impossible; but the day when the Christian heart shall rule the world and when peace shall reign over the land is not here, and unhappily it is not in sight. Self-defense and preparation for it is as necessary now as ever before.

We must not mistake dishonor for peace, as we cannot mistake oppression for peace. All Governments love peace—peace with freedom, peace with honor. Without these all is slavery beside. Woodrow Wilson and the Democratic party advocate an army big enough to make aggressors think the second time before they strike a blow. Democracy wants an army and a navy in keeping with the dignity, preservation, and worth of this great Republic. Such preparedness and ability to defend our selves, our cities from bombardment, and our soil from invasion, and to protect the rights of our citizens is the purpose of Woodrow Wilson.

I want a navy large enough that it will be impossible for a foreign shell to fall in a single American city. I want an army strong enough to make it impossible for an aggressor's foot to press American soil. We do not want a foot of anybody else's soil, and by the eternal God, they shall not take a foot of ours. I do not fear militarism. It has never menaced a free people.

In this land of freedom the right to declare war rests with the people themselves. Those who must fight its battles, speaking through their duly accredited Representatives in Congress—the House and the Senate—can alone declare war, and as the people can declare war so they can proclaim peace.

Democracy believes in preparedness without militarism. During this administration we have done more to build up an army and navy in three years than the Republican party did in 40 years of its existence. More has been done to give the American people a navy and army in three months than Col. Roosevelt and Mr. Taft did in 11 years.

The President challenged the seeming overwhelming opposition of Congress and of his own party, and in the name of self-defense "and America first" he took his cause to the country, and in the great and unshackled court of public opinion summoned the American people to the rescue. Their response was immediate and overwhelming in his support. President Wilson acts, he does not rant; he builds, he does not bluster.

Lauds Wilson's Course

No President during the life of this Republic has ever had to deal with so many delicate and dangerous problems as those which have confronted President Wilson during the last two years of his incumbency in office. With more than half of the world in arms in Europe, with Mexico in revolution at our border, these difficult and complicated international problems have confronted him almost daily, and he has handled them as becomes a patriot and a statesman.

When the Lusitania was sunk the militant voice of Theodore Roosevelt cried out for war, and if he had been President of the United States at that time, to-day 500,000 brave American sons would be contending around the fort of Verdun in this mighty maelstrom of blood—thousands would have been buried in the ditches. Our President patient, patriotic, far-sighted, the real statesman, handled this question with the greatest ability and won for America its greatest diplomatic victory.

Some gentlemen in Congress undertook to take out of the President's hands the right of handling our foreign situation. Congress met that quickly, decisively and said that they stood, as every American should, stand, back of the President of the United States. When the President sent his ultimatum to Germany he was criticised by two elements—one that he was seeking to force the country into war and the other was that he was too cowardly to engage in the conflict.

There are happily two kinds of courage; the courage of the man who is willing to undertake the danger himself and the courage of the man that sends others to the conflict. The courage of the man who wishes himself to enter the conflict may be rash, for he alone is to suffer, but the courage to take a nation into war, where millions of lives may be sacrificed, is another kind of courage. It is a courage that must be able to stand bitter abuse; a courage that moves slowly, acts coolly, and strikes no blow as long as diplomacy may be employed, honor of the country upheld, the flag respected, and live of Americans protected.

Woodrow Wilson has both kinds of courage—the courage of conflict and the courage to act coolly and sensibly when he is dealing with the lives of others—the fate of a nation. It was no time for divided counsel. The interference of Congress would have created chaos in this country, contempt for our honor and our country abroad, and would have destroyed the power of America to either maintain its honor or protect the rights of the neutrals of the world.

Tells of Mexican Policy

The Mexican situation was inherited by the Democratic party from the administration of President Taft. It had refused recognition of Huerta, and the same policy was followed along these lines by President Wilson, because he believed with President Taft that assassination should not be rewarded with the presidency of the Republic of Mexico. The President has dealt with the Mexican situation, and his policy has been the same as that of Abraham Lincoln under like conditions more than half a century ago. Speaking through his great Secretary of State, Mr. Lincoln said:

For a few years past the conditions of Mexico has been so unsettled as to raise the question on both sides of the Atlantic whether the time has not come when some foreign Power ought, in the interest of society generally, to intervene—to establish a protectorate or some other form of government in that country and guarantee its continuance there. You will not fail to assure the Government of Mexico that the President neither has, nor can ever have any sympathy with such designs, in whatever quarter they may arise or whatever character they may take on. The president never for a moment doubts that the republican system is to pass safely through all ordeals and prove a permanent success in our own country, and so he recommended to adoption by all other nations. But he thinks also that the system everywhere has to make its way painfully through difficulties and embarrassments which result from the action of antagonistic elements which are a legacy of former times and very different institutions.

The President is hopeful of the ultimate triumph of this system over all obstacles as well in regard to Mexico as in regard to every other American State; but he feels that those States are nevertheless justly entitled to a greater forbearance and more generous sympathies from the Government and people of the United States than they are likely to receive in any other quarter. The President trusts that your mission, manifesting these sentiments, will reassure the Government of Mexico of his best disposition to favor their commerce and their internal improvements. I find the archives here full of complaints against the Mexican Government for violation of contracts and spoliation and cruelties practiced against American citizens. It is not the President's intention to send forward such claims at the present moment. He willingly defers the performance of a duty, which at any time would seem ungracious, until the incoming administration in Mexico shall have had time, if possible, to cement its authority.

Lincoln's Course Similar

When American soil was invaded the President quickly ordered the United States troops into Mexico upon their punitive expedition. They are there now, and I have no doubt will remain as long as there is a possibility of the capture and punishment of the murderers who invaded American soil or are needed for the protection of American lives along the border.

When the Republican platform at Chicago denounced the Mexican policy of Woodrow Wilson, it denounced at the same time the similar Mexican policy of Abraham Lincoln—the one they have heretofore called the "patron saint" of the Republican party. When the Lincoln administration came into power, Mexico had been in turmoil for years. The Government of Juarez was in power, but was unable to enforce order. Not only had American property been destroyed, but American lives had been lost, and a member of the American Legation had been murdered.

It is a perfectly easy thing for the President of the United States to plunge his country into war if he is a politician before he is a patriot. He would seek his own re-election as he came upon horseback up the bloody highway of confounding armies. The American people have never yet repudiated a war President and never will. We are naturally a red-blooded, fighting race.

Of course our army could invade Mexico and march in triumph to its capital; but after the war was over other armies would march—an army of widows and orphans, an army of cripples and men broken in health, an army of pensioners and an army of tax collectors gathering up the earnings of the people to pay the great war debt. All America wants peace—peace with honor.

Republican Party, Seeking Issue, Condemns All Reform Measures Its Congressmen Aided

The Republican party defeated by filibuster the shipping bill proposed by the Democratic party, which, if it had been enacted, would have made impossible the more than 200 miles of railroad sidetrack crowded by the products of the American factory and the American farm by enabling us to get shipments abroad, and we would by this time have been enabled to have a merchant marine to take the products of the field and the factory and the mines to the hungry markets of Europe.

They offer to the United States the often proposed and always defeated subsidy to the ship owners to be paid out of the Treasury of the people of the United States. This time they call it by name of subvention, but it means, of course, the taking of the people's money to enrich a few men.

BACKING UP PROOF

The Kind That Bedford People Cannot Deny.

Many an earnest Bedford man or woman has publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills.

Week after week, month after month you've read their statements. Would these Bedford people recommend any medicine if it were not good?

Would they confirm and repeat their statements after years had passed?

Local proof is good evidence. Testimony confirmed years after is better evidence.

The following Bedford woman's statement leaves no room for doubt. It must convince every kidney sufferer who reads it.

If your back aches—if your kidneys are weak, profit by Mrs. Davidson's experience:

Mrs. Martha Davidson, 357 West Pitt St., Bedford, says: "I was very nervous and had severe headaches. My back ached constantly and the least bit of work tired me. When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I decided to give them a trial and got a box at Heckerman's Drug Store. In every way they acted just as represented and gave me prompt relief."

Over Six Years Later, Mrs. Davidson said: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills once in a while since first endorsing them, and they have kept me in good health."

The above statement must carry conviction to the mind of every reader. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mrs. Davidson has twice publicly recommended. The remedy backed by home testimony 50c all stores. ### THE HOG

(From a talk by A. J. Lovejoy of Roscoe, Ill., to Kansas farmers.)

The hog has paid for your farms, raised the money to send your children to school; he has bought the ponies and the autos. No man can make much with cattle without having hogs. A man to make a success with hogs must like hogs. As far as breeds are concerned, I have no preference.

If I were raising hogs for the market it would be fun for me. I would raise alfalfa, and put their corn into the self-feeders, and have the water handy, and let them go to it. The hog knows more about balancing his rations than the man that feeds him. I heard a good story the other day about a professor who held the chair of Greek in one of the colleges in -Galesburg, -Ill. - Being a book-farmer, he had books for all classes of stock. One day his man came in and said, "That old goose has sixteen goslings; what shall I do with them?" He says, "I will look at the goose book." So he looked, and he said to the man, "Go out and kill six of them; no goose can suckle over nine."

The cheapest way to husk your corn is to hog it down in the field. Corn is par excellence to fatten the hog; it makes nothing but white meat; it doesn't make any of the red meat. The hog must have mineral matter also. If he doesn't have it he will root; if he has it he will not root.

I prefer that a hog should have to walk forty rods for water and feed than to have it right at hand. We want the hogs to have lots of exercise.

FOR SUCCESS WITH CHICKENS

Not So Much Depends on How Many Are Hatched as Upon What Percentage Are Raised.

Success with chickens depends not so much on how many are hatched as upon what percentage is raised. The cold rains we have had recently found many early hatched chicks ready prey. An accident rather than acute reasoning once placed us in possession of what we consider the very best way to save the life of a chilled, wet chick. There were so many soaked at one time that we simply could not wrap them separately or place them in the oven. A pan of very warm water on the range prompted the man of the house to suggest dipping the chicks as he had dipped small pigs. For lack of anything better, we tried it, dipping the chicks and wrapping up several to gether in flannel cloths. It worked like magic. The warm water seemed to affect them much quicker than dry clothes or moderate heat would have done. Since then, we've restored young chicks so far gone we doubted they had any life left in them.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR JULY 16

PAUL AT ATHENS.

LESSON TEXT—Acts 17:16-34.
GOLDEN TEXT—In him we live, and move and have our being.—Acts 17:28.

Athens! What a name to conjure with. Athens has always epitomized the acme of intellectualism, culture, art, and esthetic accomplishment. Driven from Berea and alone, Paul fled to the coast and taking ship crossed over to the Thessalonian peninsula. Entering the city—he beholds its statuary, meets its philosophers and views its moral degradation and its myriad manifestations of heathenism. Outwardly cultured, molding the thought of the world, yet it passed from its pinnacle of power because it knew not God. Paul saw the pantheism of the cultured Stoics and the Epicureans, who because of their distant and but little concerned gods, enjoyed the pleasure of wealth and ease.

I. Paul Brought to Trial (vv. 16-21). Such sights stirred the spirit of Paul. The marvel is how indifferent we may become in the presence of the great spiritual poverty of our time. His spirit stirred within him, when he saw the city crowded with idols. As Paul followed his custom and began his preaching in the synagogue he also took advantage of the opportunity to do open-air work in the market place. Here a small group and there another. This he did daily until the teachers (v. 18) began to take knowledge of his presence in their city. Some in contempt called him a "babbler," while others concluded that he represented some new religion, though he set before them the same message of salvation in Jesus Christ which had caused such remarkable results elsewhere. That they might hear him more fully and without the interruption of the mart of trade, Paul is taken to the Areopagus, or Mars Hill, where from time immemorial the greatest criminals had been sentenced and the most solemn questions of religion settled.

II. The Unknown Made Known (vv. 22-29). Such idle speculation (v. 21) was of no value to the Athenians. This Paul knew, yet he began his address in a most conciliatory manner (v. 22 R. V.). He would win their favorable attention before he called them to repentance. Keenly observant, Paul had seen among the many inscriptions one "to the unknown God," and this one whom in ignorance they worshiped, he would set forth. Many today are in blindness; seeking to know God when he has already been made manifest (to be seen). (John 1:18; John 5:20; John 14:9; II Cor. 4:6.) It is man's own fault if he does not know God (Rom. 1:20-22, 28; II Cor. 4:4), and no knowledge is more important (John 17:3). Paul's opening words in verse 24 were but to seize a well-known object of their street decoration and discussions and with it to lead on to the great truth he yearned to have them comprehend. This caught the philosophers as well as the idle curious. God is not a philosophic conception of the mind. He cannot be confined to temples made with hands nor does he need the services of our hands, seeing he created all things and giveth to all things life. Paul's next point was that "He hath made of one every nation of men." As yet how little men really believe that truth—witness the European conflict and the economic, racial and social differences of this land. Negro segregation and Asiatic exclusion are but illustrations of our separation from the teaching of the brotherhood of man. But this brotherhood is not alone for altruistic service but "that they should seek God." This was his great and glorious purpose in creating the nations of the earth, in setting the seasons in motion, to minister to their needs, and in appointing the bounds of their habitations; yet how far man has departed from that ideal (Rom. 1:28). It is of the highest importance that men should seek God and he is not difficult to find for those who seek him (Jer. 29:13).

III. What the Athenians Lacked (vv. 30-34). Thus far Paul's auditors must have followed him keenly, and it was the goal toward which he had been driving so relentlessly. Such sublime conceptions, keen logic and quotations from their writers won their attention. He then delivered a keen thrust at this, the "psychological moment," by calling upon them to "repent." The Athenians lacked a realizing sense of the personality of God—that man could have personal and intimate relations with God or that a man could or had risen from the dead.

Any candid seeker after truth who will examine the evidence will be convinced of the truth that Jesus of Nazareth, crucified upon a Roman cross, rose from the dead.

These Athenians also lacked the ability to accept this fact and to yield their lives in obedience to it, and so some tried to sneer away the truth, but that did not alter it.

Some were amused, and some evidenced a curious interest, saying, "We will hear this again," but certain men, Dionysius and Damaris, "believed." Such has ever been the manner of the reception of glad tidings.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

One of the surest keys to success lies in thoroughness. No matter how great may be the enterprise undertaken a regard for small things is necessary. Just as the little courtesies of everyday life make life worth while the living, so the little details form the bone and sinew of a great success.—Edward Bok.

GOOD THINGS FOR TABLE.

The delicious crumpet are most easily baked in ordinary gem pans.

Take half a yeast cake, three cups of warm milk, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, one saltspoonful of salt, a teaspoonful of soda, dissolved in hot water and flour to make a good batter. Set these ingredients with the exception of the soda and butter over night. In the morning beat very hard and add the soda and butter; if too thin add a little more flour and pour the mixture into buttered gem pans; let rise 15 minutes and bake quickly. They will not need to be warmed over.

Canned Peas With Fresh Carrots.—Scrape two carrots and cut into quarters lengthwise, then in pieces an inch long and one-fourth inch wide. Let simmer with barely water to cover; add peas that have been reheated to the carrots, season with sugar, salt, butter and lemon juice.

Baked Milk.—Baked milk is a delicacy often recommended for invalids. Put milk in a stone jar, cover closely and let it bake slowly for several hours, when it should be thick and creamy. The flavor is unique and somewhat like Devonshire cream. It may be served as a custard or in combination with fruit.

Asparagus Luncheon Salad.—Mix together two cupfuls each of cooked asparagus and shredded lettuce with a tablespoonful of olive oil and a teaspoonful of vinegar. Mix with a boiled dressing and arrange in nests of lettuce or cress and garnish with hard cooked eggs and more dressing.

Roasted Onions.—Select large onions of uniform size and arrange in an earthen dish without removing the peelings. Bake until tender, then peel them; place in a covered dish steaming hot; make a rich white sauce with butter and thin cream and flour for thickening, season well and pour over the onions. They are delicious when served cut open, seasoned with butter, salt and a bit of cream.

DELECTABLE SWEETS.

Many times a dessert is more appealing because of its faintness, rather than because of its nutritive value, so a light dessert is much better for the average diner, as he is usually apt to eat too much. The following dessert, however, is quite nutritious.

Italian Cream.—Mix a pint of rich cream with a cupful of milk and sweeten with four tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar. Add half a cupful of extract of bitter almond and a gill of rose water. Beat these well together, then stir in an ounce of gelatin which has been soaked for an hour in one cupful of water. Stir well, fill into wetted molds and set in a cold place until firm.

English Trifle.—Cut a stale sponge-cake in slices, spread with different kinds of preserves or jam and put them together again. Place in a deep glass dish and pour over enough fruit juice of any kind to soak the cake well, then cover with apricot or strawberry jam. Make a rich custard of a pint of milk, a piece of cinnamon, and rind of lemon, and four eggs; cook until thick, not forgetting to add salt and sugar to taste. When the custard is cold pour over the cake and cover all with sweetened whipped cream, flavoring with two tablespoonfuls of marischino and garnish with the cherries. This is truly quite elegant and elaborate.

Milanese Ice.—Make a quart of rich boiled custard, making it quite sweet, add a tablespoonful of softened gelatin and when cool turn into a freezer, stir, and as soon as it becomes thick stir in a cupful of stoned raisins, softened by steaming, a half cupful of finely chopped almonds, one cupful of preserved strawberries and a pint of whipped cream. Stir and beat well, then freeze until stiff.

Bacon Sandwiches.—Very thin broiled bacon put between slices of toasted graham bread with a piece of crisp lettuce between is another appetizing sandwich.

NEW YORK PROGRESSIVES
STICK TO PRINCIPLE

John J. O'Connell, chairman of the New York County Committee of the Progressive party in a speech before that body bitterly denounced the Progressive National Committee for selling out the party and its principles to the Republicans.

Trussed and Sold at Gary Dinner Last Year

"The Progressive National Committee does not really represent the rank and file of the Progressive party. It is under the control of the men who so liberally supplied of their wealth to create the organization they now seek to destroy. Events show that their motives were not so pure as we believed. There seems to be grounds for the charges that the men who financed the Progressive movement in 1912 did so to get even with the Republicans for the things that the Taft Administration did to the Steel Trust, and that these same men have now swung back to the ranks of the standpatters to punish the Wilson Administration for the enactment of the Banking and Currency Law, which the Republican Party does not dare to oppose, but which it will immediately repeal if Mr. Hughes is elected and it is returned to power.

There is little doubt in my mind that the Progressive Party was trussed and sold from the time of the Gary dinner last year."

New York County has the largest enrolled membership of any Progressive organization in the United States. The County chairmen of all five boroughs of New York are supporting Mr. O'Connell and from State and County Chairman all over the country come appeals for him to assume the leadership against the action of the Progressive National Committee and express their opposition to Hughes.

O'Connell thinks that Roosevelt was not "battling for the Lord," so much as he was battling for the United States Steel Corporation. Gifford Pinchot's brother, of New York wanted to put Geo. W. Perkins out of the Progressive party at one time but Roosevelt said, "if Perkins goes out I got out." Pinchot knew of the purpose of Perkins too. He knew he didn't "battle for the Lord" either, but for the Steel Trust.

O'Connell Praises Wilson's Progressive Legislation

"President Wilson has dealt with foreign powers in a way which must satisfy the sternest advocate of Americanism. No one can accuse this Administration of having been lax in its enforcement of our neutrality laws, and this enforcement has been impartial because prosecutions have been directed against votaries of both sides of the great conflict.

I for one do not believe that this country will go to political or other damnation if Mr. Wilson is re-elected. This nation has many times shown its ability to recuperate from worse things than those of which the Republicans accuse Mr. Wilson. Besides which, if the voters will take the trouble to examine the record they will find that Mr. Wilson has to his credit in the four years of his administration pretty nearly as much progressive legislation as was enacted in the eleven years of the Roosevelt and Taft administrations."

Opposes Electing Supreme Court Judges.

"Another important consideration is that the rank and file of the Progressive Party are stoutly opposed to allowing the Supreme Court of the United States to be made a stepping stone to political preferment. Even the manner in which Mr. Hughes used his high office in seeking the nomination for President was in itself not such as would appeal to sincere and red-blooded Americans.

Heretofore when members of the Supreme Court have aspired for an office they came out in the open and sought the nomination like any other man. If it was wrong to aspire to the nomination from the Supreme Court bench, it must be wrong to accept it. Mr. Hughes has shown that all along he was anxious to be nominated and yet he conducted his campaign in a mysterious un-American and fuliginous manner and by methods familiar to the high priests of invisible government.

Judges Who Become Candidates

This issue of dragging the Supreme Court into politics is going to be a very important one as far as the Progressive voters are concerned. If Mr. Hughes is elected it will be greatly because of the prestige that his service as a Justice of the Supreme Court gives him in the minds of the voters. An appointment to the Supreme Court of the United States is and ought to be the highest badge of character, of wisdom and of integrity of purpose that any American citizen can obtain. It should not be used as an endorsement of a purely political candidacy. If it is so to be used every President from now on who has to make an appointment to the Supreme Court will not only weigh the qualifications of the candidates as jurists—as men learned in the law and passionately attached to our institutions—but he will weigh their qualifications as potential Presidential timber. No greater calamity could overcome either the Court or this country.

The only men in the rank and file of the Progressive Party who want to go back into the reactionary, corporation-controlled Republican fold are men whose hearts were never touched with the spirit of social service, men who never devoted themselves to the great cause of human rights and individual liberty embodied in the original Progressive platform. Some of them are Republicans at heart, who allowed their principles to be overriden by their hero worship for the Colonel, some are men whose business and financial interests are superior to any political principles they ever thought they had, some are men who were in the Progressive Party for motives of place and political preferment—job-hunting opportunists—who think they can sell themselves back to the G. O. P. on satisfactory terms."

The Pennsylvania Progressive G. O. P. contingent met in Harrisburg on Tuesday. The discussion was so spirited and the "crooks," "falsifier," "traitor," "traitor" was so frequent that fists were shoved under each other's noses and hands smacked near each other's mouths.

Gifford Pinchot and "Bill" Fliinn succeeded in delivering the convention back to Penrose, but he did it with a narrow margin and under such a grilling for trading away the well meaning Progressives that he sweated under the ordeal and Gifford Pinchot slung his fists around the heads of some of the Progressives who were determined to stand by principles instead of following one man, and dared them to call the traitors."

It appears that Fliinn and Pinchot knew well enough that Roosevelt was not "battling for the Lord" but that the phrase was concocted to catch shouts while underneath it all he was battling for the United States Steel Trust. Of course Roosevelt and Fliinn and Perkins and Pinchot may have meant the "Lord" to be the United States Steel Trust but they should have asked the newspapers to print it with a small letter instead of a capital. If the U. S. Steel was meant it was the worse kind of hypocrisy and blasphemy as well. Events will no doubt lead up to the fact that Roosevelt knew all about the Tennessee Coal and Iron merger, in which he says he was grossly deceived, now since he has ceased "battling for the Lord", and came down to the true point of the compass and will battle for the U. S. Steel Corporation in the open. "Under will out."

Neck Broken and Lives

Last Friday morning, Mr. Joseph Barney of Clearville while raking hay was thrown from the hayrack backwards, lighting on his head and shoulders. Mr. James Price and Mrs. Barney, his wife were near but did not see him fall and were under the impression that he was fixing the rake. Mr. Price thought he was occupying a long time under the rake and went to help. When he arrived, he found Mr. Barney helpless and unable to talk. He quickly summoned help and a body of men carried him to his home, about two miles. Upon investigation, it was found that his neck was broken and at once they called Dr. Hawkins of Cumberland. Md. He brought with him Drs. Hill and Henry and with Dr. Hunt, they set the broken vertebra. The examination revealed the fact that his neck was dislocated also. The bone was set and the vertebra put in its place. Mr. Barney knows everything can talk and joke and there are great hopes for his recovery.

Wants to Send Bible to Soldiers

Bedford, Pa., July 10, 1916.
To the Sunday Schools of Bedford Co. Superintendents, Teachers and Scholars:—

Just a word in behalf of those noble boys, who when the President of the United States of America issued a call for troops to go in defense of the Stars and Stripes, at once responded to that call, and on Saturday morning, June 24, showed to this nation and to the world their courage, bravery and valor, by marching so grandly from the public square in Bedford to the station, there to be hurried off to the front, leaving their homes, father, mother, sister, brother, wife and children, a sight Bedford will never forget, offering, if need be, their lives in defense of this nation. Now, in order to do our part and show our appreciation of this grand and noble act, and to keep in touch with them, and to let them know that our prayers are ever with them, a thought has suggested itself to my mind like this: That the Sunday Schools of Bedford County present each of these soldier boys a pocket Bible, that each and every Sunday School take the matter in hand, appoint a committee of one, two or three, just as they like and report to me what their school will give, and when I get the report from the different schools that care to take part in the matter, I will then get as many of the different committees together as possible and will make a calculation of about what each school should pay of the amount they express a willingness to pay.

I have secured a sample copy of a very fine Oxford Text Bible measuring 3 by 5 inches and about 3/4 inches thick, flexible back, in short a beauty and will cost $1.40 each. The cost in the whole matter will be $85.00 or $90.00.

When we get the reports from the different schools wishing to take part we can then determine the amount each school should pay. We will then give notice to the schools taking part, of the amount that will be required and directions where to pay the money. When the money is all in, we will order Bibles. The name of each and every school contributing will be printed and posted in the front of each Bible so that they will ever have before them the donor of the book.

When we ship the Bibles to Capt. Reiley, we will have him send a receipt for them which we will have published in the county papers, so that all can see that the boys have received their Bibles. Trusting that every Sunday School may favorably consider this plan, and that these boys each may carry with them wherever they may go, a Bible, with the name of every Sunday School in Bedford County printed in it, I remain,

Very kindly yours,
S. A. Cessna, Com.

Catarrrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c.

The exact formula on every car

Even an expert cannot tell by looking at varnish whether it is adulterated. That is why it is so important that you should always buy varnish with a guarantee formula.

DEVOE
THE GUARANTEED
VERNOSITE THE LONG LIFE SPAR VARNISH
PALE INTERIOR VARNISH
MARBLE FLOOR FINISH

For outside work and all surfaces exposed to water, use Vernosite. It will not turn white from rain or sleet and the sun will not blister it.

For inside woodwork where extremely transparent varnish is required, use Pale Interior. It preserves the natural beauty of the wood, is hard to mar and won't scratch white.

For all floors use Marble Floor Finish. It waterproofs the wood, and enables it to withstand the severest wear and tear without marring.

We strongly recommend these three varnishes, because the guarantee formulas on the cans prove that they have been properly aged and that they are absolutely free from rosin and other adulterants.

Never take chances with varnish. Get Devoe and be sure.

How Much Are You Saving?

The value of a savings account does not consist entirely or chiefly in the amount of money actually accumulated. The habit of thrift which it creates is one of the most valuable features.

Whether it is to get married, own your home, educate your children, start a business or provide for old age, you must have a definite object if you would save wisely and you cannot safely save without the aid of a good interest-paying bank. We can help you.

Surprise Party

Last Monday evening, July 3, a pleasant surprise was given by a host of young folks at the home of M. and Mrs. Henry Miller of near Wilt, in honor of their daughter, Miss Marie Miller, who celebrated her 16th birthday anniversary. The evening was pleasantly spent with games and music rendered by Misses Grace Biesel and Nellie Crawford. At a late hour a delicious lunch of ice cream and cake was served. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller, Mr. and Mrs. William Shaffer, Marie Miller, Nelle McCleary, Olive Orner, Daisie McCleary, Angie Miller, Vera Turner, Beatrice Miller, Stella Onstead, Ella Dull, Lillie Dull, Grace Biesel, Mary Kerr, Nelle Crawford, Laura Smith, Emma Kinzer, Laura Shaffer, Geraldine Shaffer, Harry Hinson, Ralston Bowser, Clyde Thomas, Anson Miller, Kenneth Turner, Russ Manges, Dewey Biesel, Francis Miller, George Rogers, Ferrel Goughnour, Henry Brouch, Calvin Onstead, William Dull, Frank Sheller, Jacob Custer, Lawrence Kerr, Guy Kerr, Charles Biesel, Burt Crawford, Norman Miller, Harry Miller, Clyde Dull, Lances Lansing, Thomas Buttof, Walter Moore, Emette Robb, Daniel Staley, Edward Shaffer, Nelson Shaffer, Bruce Miller.

Cumberland's $500,000 Hotel

Cumberland expects to put up a modern hotel costing $500,000. It is to be located on Baltimore Street and to stand where the Frederick Piano Company's and the Imperial Company's Stores are situated. The tenants are to vacate next month.

Dynamite on R. R. Tracks

Tuesday night at about midnight an attempt was made to either destroy railroad property or wreck a train near Bellwood, Blair County. Several sticks of dynamite were exploded by a time fuse on the tracks blowing up a considerable distance of the tracks. About 2 a. m. a second explosion occurred about 150 feet from Bellwood station and later a third explosion in two passenger coaches at Bellwood. Investigation found 36 sticks of dynamite done up in packages containing 8 to 10 sticks each, with fuses attached scattered over the railroad tracks, and some explosives were found in a watering trough nearby. The bloodhounds from Cumberland were taken over on Wednesday.

Jeremiah Dalton, of Defiance Local U. S. Marine Makes Good.

In an official bulletin issued by Headquarters, United States Marine Corps, Washington, appears the name of Thomas P. Dalton, of Defiance, this county, as having qualified as a sharpshooter in that most interesting branch of the Government service.

Thomas, who is a son of Jeremiah Dalton, of Defiance, enlisted in the United States Marine Corps at its Akron, Ohio, recruiting station on January 13, 1916, and is now serving on board the U. S. S. New York, one of our most powerful and formidable superdreadnaughts. As the New York goes cruising o'er the seven seas, ready for a fight or a frolic, it is good to know that a former Bedford County youth stands on her quarterdeck prepared to prove to the world, should the occasion arise, that the American man-behind-the-gun is still the peer of them all.

Considering the fact that Dalton is scarcely more than a recruit, his performance in gunnery is looked upon by Marine Corps officials as very promising.

Wilson's Achievements

They seem to be perfectly willing to take the public money and give it to other people to operate shipping abroad, but they are utterly unwilling that the Government of the United States shall with the people's money purchase these ships and operate them if private capital is not willing to do so without subsidy, or, as they call it, subvention, from the Treasury, and whatever profit was made by the Government's operation would go into the public Treasury.

The Republican platform proposes a subsidy to the ship owner, the profit going into their pockets. In other words, it is willing for the United States to pay the loss, if there is any, in operating the ships when it is done by private capital, but unwilling for the Government to render the service if private capital will not undertake it.

The Republican party, seeking some issue, just any issue upon which to hang the slightest hope of returning to power, is driven to the necessity of denouncing in its own platform, adopted at Chicago, the vote of a majority of its own members in the House and Senate upon practically all of the reform measures that have been written into law by the Democratic party.

Discusses Rural Credits

They declare we "favor an effective system of rural credits as opposed to the ineffective law proposed by the recent Democratic administration." By this declaration they charge practically every Republican in the Senate and almost every Republican in the House with having voted for an ineffective rural credit law, which has passed both the Senate and House. In the Senate the vote was 57 to 5, in the House 295 to 10. I suppose this denunciation of their fellow Republicans was caused by the fact that of the five Republicans in the Senate who voted against the rural credits bill, which passed that body, Senators Lodge, Oliver and Wadsworth were members of the subcommittee that prepared the Republican platform, and they were anxious to vindicate their own vote at the cost of denouncing their Republican colleagues.

The Republican platform declares for "a continuous policy of national defense," but there have only been two propositions made in our history for a "continuous policy." One was made by the General Board of the navy in 1903, urging upon the Republican administration then in power the construction of two battleships a year. That "continuous" program was hidden in the archives and never saw light until the present Secretary of the Navy published it.

The only other "continuous policy" proposed is the one advocated by the President of the United States in his address to Congress last December, in which he urged the adoption by this Congress of a five-year building program which, if adopted, would meet the demand of the "continuous policy" which the belated Republican promise now offers.

But what happened when this matter was under consideration in the Naval Affairs Committee of the House? Every Republican member of the committee decided to oppose the President's "continuous program" and would vote for no program longer than for one year. "Promises butter no parsnips." After 16 years of failure even to let the public know of the "continuous policy" proposed by the naval experts, much less to carry out such a policy, and after the Republicans of the House Naval Affairs Committee, in June, 1916, unanimously opposed the President's policy, they now say they favor the "continuous policy."

Prosperity Never Equalled

For the first time in the history of our country the United States leads the world in exports. We are more prosperous than ever and mills which have not turned a spindle for years are now busy. All the laborers of the United States are employed as never before. With the world war raging, our country is the only neutral one that is not in distress and the only one that has not declared a moratorium.

Four years ago they sneeringly called Woodrow Wilson the school-teacher; then his class was assembled within the narrow walls of Princeton College. They were the young men of America. To-day he is the world teacher, his class is made up of Kings, Kaisers, Czars, Princes and potentates. The confines of the schoolroom circle the world.

His subject is the protection of American life and American rights under international law. The saving of neutral life, the freedom of the seas and without orphaning a single American child, without widowing a single American mother, without firing a single gun, without the shedding of a single drop of blood, he wrung from the most militant spirit that ever brooded above a battlefield an acknowledgment of American rights and an agreement to American demands. He truly demonstrated that principle is mightier than force, that diplomacy hath its victories no less renowned than war.

Wilson's Work Reviewed

He has by legislation taken labor out of the brutal category of the inanimate things and treated the toilers as men with hearts that beat and lips that pray, and they are no longer subjected to oppressive injunctions or Federal Court manipulations; he has dignified the associated toilers of the field and the factory, men seeking by organization and association to brighten and make delightful the lives of the wealth producers and creators of the nation; he has freed the industries of the Republic; he has liberated the business of the nation; he has provided a Federal Trade Commission whose duty it is to destroy favoritism, weed out unfair advantage, and give to industry everywhere an equal opportunity; he has given to individualism high hope and new life; he drove from the Treasury of the nation a shipmonopoly that was enjoying subsidies on the canal tolls of millions of dollars a year, and at the same time proclaimed to the world that a treaty made with America was more than a "scrap of paper," but was, indeed, a bond of honor that should be faithfully kept; he has struggled amid the world's war with the great nations of the earth for the freedom of the seas and the rights of Americans and of neutrals everywhere; he has stood for the law of neutrality which was written before the war commenced and agreed to by the nations of the earth and could not be changed during the war to meet the exigencies of some or the demand of others.

And as we cannot afford to swap horses while crossing a stream, who would say that we can afford to swap horses while crossing a bloody stream?

So America cannot afford to change leadership during this great cataclysm that shakes the nations of the earth, for to Woodrow Wilson more than any other citizen in all the world the Christian people, wherever the rain falls or the sun shines this world around, look anxiously, hopefully, and prayerfully

Three Million Auto Tires made— —by GOODRICH, in year 1915

STUDY the Price-List publicly printed below. Compare with the List-Prices of other Tires made in LESSER Volume. Observe that competing Prices are higher in almost the exact proportion that VOLUME of production is smaller. This, when Quality approaches the Goodrich Standard. Cut our 1915 Tire Output (of 3,000,000 Auto and Truck Tires) to One-third, and it would still far exceed the Average of all Competing Makes or Brands. But, that huge reduction in Volume MIGHT result in every Tire we made costing you One-third MORE than present prices. They would not,—and could not,—be BETTER Tires, at this necessarily higher-cost to us, and higher-price to you. Because,—Goodrich Tires are not made "up to a price,"—nor "down to a price."

WE, first of all, make the BEST Fabric Tires that our 47-year Experience in Rubber-Working,—our huge Purchasing-Power, and the most Advanced Equipment, renders possible. Then we let Cost fall where it will. To that Cost we add a moderate, and fair, Profit for Ourselves and for our Dealers. Then we let VOLUME rise,—as it will. The more Tires we Make, the LESS each Tire COSTS us to produce,—and the less it costs YOU to buy them. The more Tires we Sell, the less profit, per Tire, WE NEED, for dividends. The more Tires we make, the better we KNOW HOW to make them,—the more we have at Stake on Quality,—and Satisfaction to Consumers. And,—because of all this,—The BEST Fabric Tires that Skill,—Experience,—Good-Faith, and Maximum Volume, can build,—are now available to YOU at the VERY MODERATE Fair-List Prices here quoted.

Why pay more for ANY Fabric Tire?

NOTICE.—These Tires are as perfect as Fabric Tires can be made. ### INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Little Talks on Health and Hygiene by Samuel G. Dixon, M. D., LL. D., Commissioner of Health.

Infantile Paralysis is a disease that affects the nervous system. It often causes death, and again, the acute stage frequently subsides and leaves paralysis of one or more of the limbs that heretofore has often lasted through life.

To-day we do not know what causes the disease, therefore preventive measures must be broad. You must keep the children away from insect life, such as flies, mosquitoes, fleas, bed bugs, ticks, ants, lice, etc. You should see that all rats and mice around the building are killed. Pet cats and dogs should be washed with a two per cent carbolic acid solution to destroy insect life. Everything should be kept clean about the home, including the children's bodies and clothing.

Children should be fed well but not indulged in large quantities of water, ice cream or other frozen dishes on a full stomach, as that will often cause acute indigestion and render them susceptible to other diseases. In other words, the digestion should be guarded carefully.

Children should have plenty of sleep. They should not associate with other children that are sick. Their homes should be well ventilated but screened from flies, etc., and any flies that happen to enter the building should be killed. All foodstuffs should be protected from flies, dust, etc. Fruit and vegetables eaten raw should be thoroughly washed in clean water.

Children's mouths should be rinsed out and their throats gargled with Dobell's solution after each meal. If the children are too young to rinse or gargle, wash the mouth with a piece of fabric, muslin or linen, that has been dipped in Dobell's solution.

Children should be kept out of crowded places and be denied the frequent access to crowded halls of entertainment during our present threat with epidemic.

The youngsters should not be permitted to sit on the damp ground nor have their bodies thoroughly chilled, day or night. They should not bathe in cold water until their circulation is interfered with and they become chilly and blue.
